Now a days neck pain has become the most menacing problem which affects a majority of people who are used to sedentary jobs. Do you know that there are seven vertebrates in the region of the neck? The vertebrate are joined with ligaments and muscles and they provide stability and power for movement

The pain in the neck is caused due to damage to the ligaments, muscles, degeneration of the disc which compresses the nerve roots. Acute pain may be due to a fracture of the vertebrate or slip disc which may be caused due to lifting heavy weights or carrying heavy loads on the head or due to an accident where the neck region is involved.

If you are suffering from Chronic Neck Pain which persists despite painkillers drugs then the cause of the pain maybe due to Cervical Spondylitis and an X-Ray of the spine may help to confirm the diagnosis. The main symptoms of Cervical Spondylitis is pain in the neck which may radiate to either shoulder. In some cases a person may suffer from headache.
